“THE VIEW”

August, 2015

Dear Mountain View Homeowners:

Town Hall Meeting Tuesday, August 11 Clubhouse - 6:00 pm.

We have asked George Price, our district 3 councilman, to come and speak to us about subjects that affect us at our end of the valley. Plan on attending and hear what is going on in Moreno Valley.

Why does it cost so much for the HOA to have work done?

I’m asked that question over and over. Someone will approach me and say “I could have had that done by my landscaper for half the price” or, “my electrical guy could have done that job cheaper and faster”. Or, someone will say, “I do my own electrical work and could have put that switch in for free”.

The HOA Board has a responsibility to the homeowners to do things in a proper manner and protect them from liability. The HOA will only use a contractor that is on the property manager’s (FirstService Residential) approved list. To get on that list a contractor must have a license in the area of work being done and must provide proof of insurance. Just in case something goes wrong we can file a claim against the contractor’s insurance. The worker’s compensation insurance protects us if the contractor or an employee has an accident on our property. The license ensures that the contractor is qualified by the State to do the work. All this coverage costs the association money but, the HOA is protected from liability and workers compensation claims and has some assurance the job will be done correctly.

Brown lawns and weeds.

The HOA has the power to require the removal of dead plants and weeds in accordance with Civil Code section 4750(e). Dead lawns are another matter. Because of the drought emergency, boards cannot fine owners for reducing or eliminating the watering of lawns during any period for which the governor or local government has declared a drought emergency in accordance with Civil Code section 4735.

Fred Humphrey
 HOA Board President

Social Club Happenings

JoAnn Foronjy

I would like to begin this month by thanking Amy Dankel of First Residential, the HOA Board, Dave from Protech and Lemar from Horizon Electric. Together, they expedited the installation of the patio sun shades and ceiling fans in time for our 4th of July celebration. It really made a huge difference in our comfort level. Also, a big thanks to Darryl Householder for purchasing and helping to install the wireless speaker as well as insuring the microphone was working (my personal favorite).

Speaking of the 4th of July event, it was a big success! We had plenty of food and beverages and lots of dancing, singing and laughing. Not sure if the Jello shooters had anything to do with any of it! Of course, it may have had a lot to do with musician Ron Johnson. What an exceptional entertainer he is. Whatever the reason...we had a really fun time!

My sincere thanks to Grace Paltikian and the Up & Down Crew for always being available to help out. And, to Eunice Kang, Jean Holifield, Bobbie Posner, Pat Roy, Joan Brodowsky, Joanne Phillips and Sidney Pennington for the bartending, decorating, food set up and clean up. These events would not be possible without your help.

Pickleball continues to grow in participation as well as spectators. We have purchased a set of four new community paddles and a bag of balls. If you wish to play they can be found in the cabinet located under the television in the clubhouse. The game is played on the tennis court. Please remember to return balls and paddles to the cabinet so others may use them. Your fob will get you into the clubhouse, however, you will need your gate key to gain entrance to the tennis court.

We are still working out details for Pickleball court striping and portable nets. When finalized, these extras will give us two regulation size pickleball courts while maintaining the tennis court. We play actual games every Monday at 6:30 pm and practice most Friday mornings at 8:30 am. Come see how the game is played then try it out. It is great exercise, good fun and a lot of laughs. I believe we are now up to 125 excuses as to why we've "wiffed" or missed the ball. It's a game that doesn't require a lot of skill - we are all learning. Just ask Shirley DeCarlo who has been named our "official ball girl". She comes out to watch and chase down balls for us. And, even though she uses a walker at times, she can volley balls. I encourage all who are interested to come by and check it out.

August will be a quiet month for the Social Club. There will be no specific events but our regular clubs and committees will be in full swing. Check the newsletter calendar or website (mountainviewhoa.org) for information on all of our social activities.

Our next event will be on Monday, September 7th. It will be held for those who have "labored" on behalf of Mountain View and its residents. Mark your calendars and watch for your invitation.

As always...be seeing you around.

Craft Club

Peggy Meddings

At our July craft club meeting we enjoyed ceramic creations presentation by Victoria and Dan Klaas. Their metal and paint fired designs are both unique and beautiful. Our thanks to them for sharing.

We had a showing of cactus gardens that were made following Jo Pavlik's presentation. We were eager to build these gardens and the results were quite creative. Thank you Jo for demonstrating this process to our group.

Carole Montgomery shared her painted rock houses. They are quite unique and we are excited about trying our hand with them, so let's paint rocks with Carole! Bring $10 to the August 13th meeting, which will cover the cost of the right kind of rocks (Carole will already have the roofs on them), paint, brushes, and everything you will need to "make and take" a house of your own. Questions, call Carole at 242-4700. Come join the fun!

Joan Williams has responded to bracelet fans by agreeing to demonstrate how to make a necklace. If you are interested you will need to purchase a Zebra Print Jewelry Tool Kit with different types of pliers. The pliers are necessary in order to turn wires within a necklace. You can buy them at any Hobby Lobby or on line for $19.95 less 40% discount. Joan will purchase wire cutters at a cost to you of $3.25. She will give us a lesson at the September meeting and answer any questions you may have.

We are still suggesting you collect pods, pinecones and anything you want to use for decorations for making holiday table decorations and wreaths. We will have a presentation of ideas at our September meeting and then work on the projects in October.

Crafts and collections are not only for the ladies. I know some of you gentlemen do woodworking or have a hobby or collection. We would love to have you share them with us. I suspect there are many retired men in our community who would be interested in seeing and learning about your hobbies.

Anyone who would like to share a collection or craft, please call me at (951) 924-9195 to schedule a presentation date.

The Craft Club crew on a July outing to the Myrtle Creek Gardens and Nursery in Fallbrook.

Fire!

Last month we were coaxed out of our houses about 8:30 pm by nervous neighbors who were watching a brush fire on the hill at the East end of Cactus Boulevard. The hillside above and behind Grandview was lit up like a blow torch – the sky filled with an orange-red glow. Neighbors were everywhere, a little anxious but confident the fire department had it under control. And, they did. By 10:00 pm the fire had shifted away from us and the excitement was over. Thankfully.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I have an issue with neighbor cats roaming into other people's yards. Shouldn't they be on a leash? We have rules about dogs being on leashes why not cats? They do their business in my yard and I have to clean it up. Also, I would like to know if there is a rule about how many pets we are allowed to have. Please everyone, can you keep your pets in your own yard? I'm tired of the brown spots on my lawn.

Up, Up and Away!

This month we are pleased to spotlight Joanne Phillips. While our intent is to focus on Joanne's career as a flight attendant (known early on as an airline stewardess) we are also recognizing the March Field Air Museum where she currently serves as a volunteer.

Joanne was hired by United Airlines in 1956. She was offered a job as a secretary in the New York sales office. She accepted the position and headed for the Big Apple.

"What a city! I went to the United Nations the first weekend there and even though, in my opinion, it never fulfilled its promise, it was an impressive structure. I also spent time just wondering around museums, Rockefeller Center, drooled in front of Tiffany's and watching a Macy's parade.

"Like I said, what a city!"

Joanne still had the desire to become a stewardess and once her application had been accepted she flew off to Cheyenne, Wyoming for training. Lest anyone think there would be little for young females to do during their down time in Cheyenne, au contraire. "Our training was held at Warren Air Force Base, our classrooms were next to base operations, and our dormitory was directly above. Need I say more? It was great fun".

Joanne says that her training consisted of United Airlines history, flight theory, uniform appearance (including weight control and girdle checks), knowledge of aircraft, meal service, first aid, emergency procedures, working hours and pay scales. After training, she tells me she was paid the hefty sum of $290.00 a month.

In the beginning, passenger aircrafts were small, 44 seats, proceeded by an aircraft that seated 56 passengers and had a lounge, but the cargo area was between the galley and the first row of seats. As the years passed the cabin areas increased in size with a mix of first class and coach. First class passengers were treated to linen table clothes, silverware and what was considered at the time, gourmet food. Joanne says that the ground crew seldom mentioned to the stewardess that a dog was in the cargo area, "you just found it out on your own."

The choice of where to be domiciled was determined by age and the oldest trainee was entitled to first choice. At the age of 23, Joanne was the second to choose and decided to return to New York where she had three roommates waiting.

Joanne spent a year flying out of what was then known as New York-Idlewild International Airport (IDL) renamed in 1963 JFK International. She eventually grew tired of the cold weather and transferred to San Francisco where she met the love of her life, Patrick. He was in the Navy and stationed there. After his discharge, he moved back to the Chicago area and she followed. They were married in 1961. At the time an airline stewardess could not be married so, once again she worked as a secretary.

"The beauty of being a stewardess during this period was being able to meet and greet people from all over the country" says Joanne. "Flying anywhere was still considered 'special'. People dressed accordingly – men wore suits and ties and women wore dresses. I was fortunate to fly at the end of one era and at the beginning of another. The experience was very fulfilling and I have great memories. To this day, I still remain friends with many of my flying partners. This year, stewardess service is celebrating its 85th anniversary."

In March, 2012 Joanne began volunteering at the March Air Museum. "The work appealed to me and it just seemed a natural fit. I'm proud of this museum. It's full of history and wonderful artifacts." In the picture to the left Joanne is standing before her uniform which she donated to the museum for their new Commercial Aviation display.

Green Thumb Corner

Victoria Klaas

Greetings fellow gardeners!

This month we are once again concerned with keeping gardens watered and cool without invoking punitive water rates. This is a good time to troubleshoot sprinklers and drip systems. Check for clogged drip emitters and malfunctioning sprinkler heads.

August and September are typically the hottest and driest months of the year. For this reason new planting is inadvisable. However, there remain a number of issues to consider:

- Consider double potting if you are adding a new container plant. Plant into a plastic pot which conserves water. Then place into a second pot of any material. This method insulates plants roots from heat and dryness far better than a single pot.
- Renew watering basins around trees and on banks. These water holding berms often degrade over time.
- Refrain from fertilizing deciduous fruit trees this month. This practice is not a good idea in our region as it is difficult to induce dormancy in deciduous trees. Dormancy is required for best fruit production.
- Perennials such as Kangaroo Paw and Daylilies require grooming of dead stalks.
- This is a good time to divide perennials such as Foxtail Asparagus, Iris, Daylilies and others. Even overgrown clumps of ornamental grasses may be divided now. Dig up clumps and use a small garden saw on the roots to cut into manageable size. Replant and "water in" to settle the roots.
- Watch for signs of disease. Plants in the rose family (and that includes a LOT of garden specimens including most fruit trees) are susceptible to fire blight, which blackens and appears to scorch new growth. If symptoms are detected prune off infected branches and do not compost them.
- Oleanders are also susceptible to a very serious disease called Leaf Scorch (or Xylella), which often kills them. This is caused by a small insect which also infests Crepe Myrtles, Boston Ivy, Grape vines and Periwinkle Vine. For this reason, Oleanders should never be planted near any of these plants.

On a side note, if the heat drives you into the shade of your patio I saw a neat idea at last month's Craft Club Meeting. Members exhibited dish gardens which they created using various succulents and small decorative items. Each one of these little gardens was a small piece of art upon which each member had bestowed a special and unique style. What a great idea!

Happy Gardening!

Violets are blue;
But they don't get around
